We respectfully ask that you remember: There are legitimate entertainment businesses working countless hours, recording new music, traveling thousands of miles, paying taxes, arriving early and leaving late, performing for hours each show, appreciating and respecting loyal staff, bandmates, and fans. All while still being overlooked. All being affected by drama, being embarrassed by association. Your memes, "Tejano is dead" comments don't do anything to actually help the businesses that are working tirelessly every weekend. To many, it's funny. To us, it's disheartening and getting old. Retirement is looking really good these days. Sometimes you just have to bow out while you can still keep some integrity and respect. ☐☐

Tejano is not dead. It's just sad that the newer generation doesn't listen to it as much as my generation did. I still love to dance to Tejano! Keep doing what you do and bringing us good entertainment and music even if it is to smaller venues/clubs

Caption: This was a VERY tough week. We had 6 shows in 5 days. Some very hard shows in the extreme heat. ☐ But we hope to have met everyone's expectations and also brought a smile to your faces! We are thankful to everyone who hired us, to those who came to our shows, and to the guys in the band. We can't do this without the sound crew and our band family- THANK YOU! Resting a little this week before we fly out to Las Vegas. Looking forward to seeing everyone at the Vegas Tejano Takeover! Goodnight! Love to all!

Just wanted to let you and your band know that having you back in Del Rio was truly a welcome sight. Thank You For an awesome performance. Your performance here in Del Rio, despite the excessive hot weather was truly amazing. Your dedication to your profession surely shows through and through. It was such a joy and an honor seeing you on that stage where we have seen a lot of great
