Atlantis gets a nose job

Nose cap sent off to vendor; OMS pod also installed at Orbiter Processing Facility

Kennedy Space Center workers continue to prepare the Space Shuttle Atlantis for STS-114, including removing its nose cap made of Reinforced Carbon-Carbon (RCC) and work on the two Orbiter Maneuvering System (OMS) pods. The nose cap was removed from the orbiter for inspection and refurbishment, then returned to the vendor, Vought Aircraft Industries, Fort Worth, Texas, for structural inspections, according to Scott Thurston, Atlantis vehicle manager.

"Once the nose cap is disassembled, the structural hardware will be sent back to KSC for the actual inspection and the RCC parts of the nose cap will be inspected similar to the Wing Leading Edge (WLE) RCC."

Burning the midnight oil - CFO transitions into new 'unique year'

While workers at Kennedy Space Center look forward to return to flight, another team of workers in the Chief Financial Office worked diligently to complete the Fiscal Year 2003 budget and accounting closure by midnight, Sept. 30.

This huge undertaking was completed by 46 accountants and more than 50 resource project managers across Center directorates, along with assistance from KSC procurement and contractor All Points Logistics.

"This was a unique year at KSC in that we are now operating under full cost accounting, managing and budgeting, which ties all the costs back to the projects," said N.A. Carroll, KSC's chief financial officer. "It is one fund that is divided into direct and indirect costs. In the past, we've only been directly involved in full cost budgeting."

The fiscal year 2003 closure included implementing several new system improvements that NASA Administrator Sean O'Keefe had mandated, including meeting an earlier deadline for implementation of NASA's new Core Financial Module.

During the closure, the team reviewed all program accounts to ensure that all of the funds were allocated and used, before the Centerwide system was shut down. "We actually had two closures," according to Sam Lenck, KSC's deputy chief financial officer for finance. "One was on Sept. 30, and the second closure was Oct. 16, to allow time to resolve any open issues and transactions that could not be processed because of system problems."

The team accomplished the task by working long hours in the weeks before the deadline, using teleconferences and meetings in order to resolve last-minute problems.

"During the last couple of days there was a mad dash to get all fiscal year 2003 dollars obligated," said Lenck. "It required a lot of teamwork and late nights from the procurement, finance and resources people in order to achieve a successful closure."

Kennedy shares One NASA message at JPL

Agency representatives connected at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) Oct. 17 supporting One NASA - a commitment to efficient and effective teamwork. Kennedy Space Center Director Jim Kennedy accompanied Dr. Ghassem Asrar, NASA's Earth Science manager; Johnny Stephenson, the One NASA lead, and JPL Director Dr. Charles Elachi for the town hall meeting.

"One NASA is not an end. It's a means to an end," said Stephenson. "Sometimes the minority opinion has the best idea. Hopefully, we don't get in a handwring and do something without hearing everyone."

The workshop was one outlet for the encouraged idea-sharing. During various activities, including tours, JPL showed that local and visiting employees had sufficient means to communicate their visions.

"We have to know each other to trust each other, and we have someone, look in their checkbook. The same thing's true for their calendar. See where they've spent their time. Spending two days at JPL helped us."

Asrar, who discussed Earth Science applications, also commented that One NASA will "insure we all pull together."

KSC Toastmasters place second in speech contests

Kennedy Space Center Toastmasters Dwayne Johnson and Bridgett Mack recently placed second in the Area 11 International Speech and Table Topics Contest in Port St. John, representing KSC's Toastmasters Club 3695, the two employees will be alternates for the area-wide event, which will be held April 14 in Orlando.

Johnson's speech was an impromptu response to the question, "Why can't I?" Mack's speech was titled, "The Wild Cat in the Room."

Johnson is an electrical avionics systems engineer who joined Toastmasters to become comfortable at giving presentations and to develop leadership skills.

Mack is a NASA budget analyst who joined the group to get over her fear of public speaking and to open up more easily to others.

"I've come to the realization that the fear will always be there and I just need to use it to my advantage," she said.

BRIDGETT MACK, a NASA budget analyst, and Dwayne Johnson, an electrical avionics engineer, recently placed second in the Area 11 International Speech and Table Topics Contest.

After joining a Toastmasters club, members progress through a series of 10 speaking assignments designed to instill a basic foundation in public speaking. Each assignment is graded toward a specific speaking skill and is designed to enable members to improve their public speaking skills.

Members who complete the basic manual receive a "competent communicator" certification from Toastmasters International.

There is no instructor. Members evaluate each other's presentations, an integral component of the educational program. Evaluations are structured to include comments about skills that the speaker demonstrates well and to provide suggestions about opportunities for improvement.

Toastmasters also give impromptu talks about assigned topics, usually related to current events. They develop listening skills, conduct meetings and learn parliamentary procedure.

KSC's Toastmasters meet every Wednesday from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. in Headquarters Building room 2254. For more information, visit <http://ksc.toastmasters.net>.

The L.C. 39 Toastmasters meet in the Orbiter Support Building 1 room 1301B on Wednesdays at 11:30 a.m. For information, visit <http://lc39.toastmasters.net>.

Florida Space Academy prepares students for exploration careers

The Florida Space Academy is a university-based undergraduate program for university and college students to prepare for a future in a space-related field. During the various programs, the students work on a range of hands-on, interdisciplinary projects designed to help students become problem solvers and experience real space- and science-based problems.

In addition, the students are introduced to the space program through informative tours and meetings with KSC employees and informed personnel who will inspire these young men and women to seek ways to play a part in Florida's space future.

The academy also exists to encourage students to continue their education in science-based programs at universities through continuing studies, internships, science-based research programs, and other opportunities and cooperation initiatives between Space Florida and the NASA Florida Space Grant Consortium.

The academy is free to all accepted undergraduate students enrolled in a Florida university or community college. The upcoming Space Academy Program includes the following sessions:

- April 30 to May 4
- May 7 to 11

- June 11 to 22
 - Aug. 6 to 18
- Interested students should mail or fax (321-730-5307) a completed application form to Tony Gannon by April 20. For information, contact Gannon at 321-730-5301, ext. 230.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS can learn space-related careers at the Florida Space Academy. Application forms are due April 20.

Shattered Scars: One Woman's Story of Surviving Sexual Abuse and Near Death Experience

Paperback – November 3, 2020

by Bridgett M. Mack (Author)

4.9 16 ratings

See all formats and editions

This is one woman's story of surviving sexual abuse and a near-death experience as a child and how her life evolved. As a child, who do you tell and how do you say, "Help me" when the abuser is in the home. Abuse stays with you forever. Trying to escape it only tortures you and destroys your self-confidence. Abuse can either make you a stronger, caring person trying to see good in everyone or it could make you into a vengeful monster. The author describes how she overcame the scars of sexual abuse she suffered as a young child for years and how nearly dying after being shot in the chest at a friend's apartment led her to a path of spiritual awakening.

A screenshot of a Facebook post by Bridgett Mack, dated December 6, 2022. The post features a promotional graphic for the "5th Annual OK Orlando Christmas Toy Drive". The graphic has a light blue background with white stars and snowflakes. At the top, it says "5th ANNUAL OK Orlando" with a logo that includes two stylized figures and the text "Impacting the Next Generation of Kids". Below this, the words "CHRISTMAS TOY DRIVE" are written in large, bold, red and green letters. The graphic lists three dates and locations for toy drop-offs and distribution: Dec 11th at UCF Men's Basketball Game, Dec 17th at Conway Baptist Bike Build, and Dec 19th & Dec 20th for distribution at Orlando Boys and Girls Clubs. At the bottom, it says "INTERESTED VOLUNTEERS CONTACT THE EMAIL BELOW." and provides contact information: "Monetary Donations: Paypal @ onekidorlando@gmail.com | Contact: impact@onekidorlando.com". The post also shows a comment from Dr. Harriet Roberson and a "Write a comment..." input field.

Please join us in this project and share the challenge with your friends, women's group and churches. Let's be a blessing in our own communities. It's so needed.

Thanks in advance.

The Challenge:

- 1 Take "Feminine Products" to your local Elementary Schools, Middle Schools, High Schools, and College Pantries (especially schools in the inner cities) (Note: for use at school and take home if needed)
- 2 Take a picture of you at drop-offs and post on social media use #ImpactHerChallenge
- 3 Please Share!

A screenshot of a Facebook post by Bridgett Mack, dated September 5, 2023. The post features a large, colorful graphic for a 'Ladies High Tea Luncheon'. The graphic has a white background with a purple banner at the bottom. The text 'LADIES HIGH TEA' is in large, bold, blue and green letters, with 'Luncheon' in a pink script font below it. Underneath, it says 'HONORING WOMEN IN THE COMMUNITY'. The date and time 'SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21, 2023 | 12-3PM' are displayed in white on the purple banner, along with the location 'OCOEE LAKESHORE CENTER'. A green starburst graphic on the right side of the banner indicates 'COST $70 (NO FEES)'. Below the graphic, the text 'EVENTBRITE.COM' is visible. The post description reads: 'Ladies "High Tea" Luncheon Honoring Women in the Community. Inviting all women to attend this amazing event.' The post shows 3 likes and 2 comments. The first comment is from Raymond Butler, who has liked the post (indicated by a red heart icon). The bottom of the screenshot shows the 'Write a comment...' input field and various reaction icons.

A screenshot of a Facebook post by Bridgett Mack. The post is titled "Bridgett Mack's Post" and shows a group photo of seven people (three men and four women) posing in front of a Christmas tree and a large archway decorated with wrapped gifts. Most of the people are wearing white t-shirts with the "SNOWMIES" logo. The caption reads: "Bridgett Mack is with Mandwell Duncan and Jamie Duncan. December 25, 2023 · 🌐". Below the caption, it says "Wishing all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year 🎄❤️". The post has a comment count of 10 and a share icon. At the bottom of the screenshot, there is a comment input field with the text "Write a comment..." and icons for adding media, emojis, and sharing.

Below the title, on the left, is a circular profile picture of a woman with blonde hair, followed by the name "Bridgett Mack" and the date "May 10, 2024" with a globe icon. On the right side of the post header is a close button (an 'X' in a circle) and three dots. The main text of the post reads: "Help me wish my hubby, friend, and King a Happy 65th Birthday 🥰". Below the text is a large photograph of a woman with long, wavy blonde hair and a man with glasses and a mustache, both smiling. The woman is wearing a black lace dress, and the man is wearing a dark suit with a white shirt and a dark bow tie. They are sitting on a patterned couch in front of a window with dark frames. Below the photo, there are 129 likes (represented by a heart icon) and 156 comments (represented by a speech bubble icon). At the bottom of the post are four icons: a thumbs-up for "Like", a speech bubble for "Comment", a paper plane for "Send", and a share icon for "Share". Below these icons is a section titled "Most relevant" with a dropdown arrow. At the very bottom is a comment input area with a person icon, the text "Write a comment...", and several reaction icons (thumbs up, smiley face, heart, GIF, and a speech bubble with a checkmark).

A screenshot of a Facebook post from Bridgett Mack, dated May 15, 2024. The post features a large, vibrant graphic for the 'WOMEN OF ORLANDO' luncheon. The graphic has a black background with a grid pattern. At the top, 'WOMEN OF ORLANDO' is written in large, yellow, outlined letters. A large, red, diagonal banner with white, distressed text reads 'SOLD OUT'. Below this, 'W LUNCHEON' is written in white. Further down, a pink banner contains the date 'SUNDAY, JUNE 23, 2024'. Below that, white text states 'DOORS OPEN AT 12:30 PM', followed by 'ROSEN PLAZA HOTEL' in yellow, and '9700 INTERNATIONAL DRIVE ORLANDO, FL' in yellow. At the bottom, it says 'TICKETS AT WWW.WOOLUNCHEON2024.EVENTBRITE.COM'. The background of the graphic shows a group of diverse women smiling. At the bottom of the post, there are logos for CarePlus Health Plans, Osborn Francis, Ford (#CONNECTFORD), Spina, and a logo for 'The B...'. A comment box at the bottom says 'Write a comment...'. On the far left, a small notification says 'Internet connection was...'. On the far right, a small 'X' icon is visible.

Hello I'm bridgett mack, I'm 56 years young, retired, and I live in Orlando. I came to the Orlando Institute back in 2009 and it really worked for me the first time. After breaking my foot, I gained 20-30 pounds as I couldn't move and was bed-ridden.

I felt defeated before I came back to Dr. Green. I was working out and staying active until I broke my foot. I knew I had to do something and I knew what would work. Who was able to help me become a better version of myself? Dr. Allison Houghton-Green could help me.

I came back to the Orlando Institute because I wasn't keeping track of my eating habits. I was so mindful when I started the program initially and as the years went on, I lost the habit of staying mindful of my nutritional habits.

Now that I am back, I've started Journaling my food again and make it an effort to stay hydrated. Within just my first week, I've lost 7 pounds of water weight! These results are from hard work and being on the Gold Lifetime Metabolic program. I feel great! I'm energetic, positive, and most of all I don't feel hungry. I felt like I was eating out of boredom before I came back. I was living to eat rather than eating to live.

I'm content with all the services I've received from the office. The staff is nice and respectful. Dr. Green is encouraging and keeps me motivated. I would recommend this program to anyone who wants to be healthy and believes they can lose weight without exercise. Because I've lost more weight without exercise then I have with exercise.
