Employment:

Subject is a Police Officer at Lower Merion Police Department

Social Media:

Facebook, Instagram, X, TikTok, LinkedIn, CashApp, and Venmo accounts were found for Subject.

Prior to the DOI:

Subject has shared various updates and experiences about her son, Bryson Jamil Van, who was born on December 6, 2018.

Photos/posts include:

- Updates on Bryson's activities, health, and milestones, such as a red mark from hitting his head, sickness preventing sleep, and an incident with Vaseline.
- Highlights of his adventures, including a family trip to Magic Kingdom, visits to places like Elmwood Park Zoo, Hershey Park, and a water park, and time spent playing video games and on an inflatable bounce house.
- Experiences of Bryson attending pre-kindergarten, showing positive feedback from his teacher about his behavior in class.
- Insights into family life, such as sleeping arrangements, travel experiences, and his interactions with his siblings and parents.
- Subject also posted various family activities and looked for recommendations related to summer camps, hip hop classes, travel destinations, and pre-kindergarten programs.

Additionally, Subject shared personal reflections, including a review of Hennessy Law and travel to Disney World with family and friends.

On DOI:

- Subject pictured her family at Stuart Rocks Beach in Florida

After DOI:

Subject has shared a wide variety of moments and updates about her family, particularly focusing on her children, Bryson and Brooks, and their activities.

Photos/posts include:

- Family adventures and outings, such as visits to Knoebels Amusement Resort, Wildwood, New Jersey, Great Wolf Lodge, Dewey Beach, and Bethany Beach.
- Updates on Bryson's milestones, including his 8th birthday celebrations, first day of school (starting 1st and later 2nd grade), and a video of him pulling out his brother Brooks' tooth.
- Parenting moments, like videoing her sons washing the car, dancing, learning to swim, and helping with household tasks (e.g., Bryson making a plate of food for his sister).
- Health-related updates, including a medical emergency involving her son Brooks, who had a respiratory issue from a virus, and her own C-section surgeries.
- Family life and personal activities, such as celebrating Christmas, ice skating, and taking photos with Santa.
- Her role as a police officer, being sworn in for the Lower Merion Police Department, as well as attending memorial events and fundraisers.
- Travel experiences, including trips to Fort Lauderdale, Florida, Cancun, Mexico, and a cruise from Philadelphia, and seeking recommendations for local services like pre-kindergarten programs and hip-hop classes.

Subject has also shared reviews for various places and services, like Holland Country Day School, a medical spa, and Hennessy Law, showing her engagement with her community.

Findings:

Subject has frequently used Facebook to seek recommendations and opinions from friends, particularly regarding her children's education and care. On February 15, 2020, Subject shared a positive update about Bryson's behavior, as mentioned by his teacher. On April 28, 2021, Subject posted about Bryson and his brother participating in Superhero Day at the Coatesville YMCA. Subject asked for pre-kindergarten program recommendations, including options with before and after-school care, both before and after the DOI. On July 12, 2021, she mentioned that she enrolled her children at Pope John Paul for the upcoming school year, following recommendations from her Facebook friends. On August 20, 2021, Subject expressed concerns about Catholic schools and their approach to children with minor IEPs, and continued searching for a program with early morning care options. In August 2022, it was revealed that Subject's children had started attending Holland Country Day School.

Subject's Instagram account was also located. Subject joined Instagram in August of 2013, changed her username 1 time, and posted 745 times. Subject frequently posted content about her children. She would document their activities and vacations.

Subject's TikTok was also located. Subject's first video was posted on July 15, 2023. Subject had 43 total videos posted to her account with 508 likes. Subject's content on the account was similar, if not identical, to the content posted to Subject's Instagram account.

There was no mention of a developmental delay or disability mentioned on Subject or Subject's associates' accounts.

What do you do all day?

I manage our corporate gym. In addition, throughout the day I teach multiple fitness classes and personal train. I also run health and wellness programs and initiatives company wide.

How many years have you been with OmniCable?

4.5 Years

Why did you decide to work for OmniCable?

I owned a personal training business for 11 years, and my ultimate goal was corporate wellness. OmniCable's former fitness manager contacted me about the job, and after hearing about how much this person enjoyed working at OmniCable, I knew that this was the best opportunity for me to accomplish my goal as well as work for a great company!

What is the best part about your job?

Helping employees accomplish their personal goals and live happy, healthy lifestyles.

What inspires you?

Success stories, whether I am a part of the stories or not. I am inspired when I see my coworkers succeed.

What are your hobbies/likes?

I enjoy traveling and spending time with my family.

What is your favorite OmniCable memory so far?

One of my favorite yearly events is Health and Fitness Awareness Month. I enjoy seeing employees come together to participate in fun, healthy events. Snack Attack Week and Smoothie Friday are two of the events that I enjoy hosting the most!

The only comfort I can find in this unreal situation is that you're reunited with your brother which you longed for, for so long. I'm going to miss you far more than words can describe. I'll try my best to take care of your parents, you know your mom and I have an unbreakable relationship. I'll continue to make fun of your dad as he waves his hand at the fire calls. You and Robbie never ceased to let that go. We had such a fun time at my competition, I just remember being on stage and I kept looking at you for reassurance and you, Kathleen and Chase kept waving your hands towards the judges, mouthing to me to look at the judges and not at you. I only listened for a few minutes then had to look back at the person I saw as my rock. It meant so much to me to hear that I made you proud that day. I love you so much, if only I had a chance to tell you one more time. I'm going to miss everything about you. May you rest in peace my angel, watch over us ♡. I will forever love you Ryan. Pa. firefighter dies in motorcycle crash 14 mos. after firefighter brother dies in motorcycle crash

Monday, July 21, 2014

Tragedy struck twice for a Chester County family and community.

EAST BRADFORD TWP., Pa. -- Tragedy struck twice for a Chester County family and community - a firefighter was killed in a motorcycle crash, and it comes a little more than a year after his own brother died also in a crash.

Police say 25-year-old Ryan Miller lost control of his motorcycle around midnight Sunday and hit a tree on the 1100 block of Allerton Road in East Bradford Township.

"Ryan was a very loving person and we are going to miss him," said Christa Callahan, victim's girlfriend.

His girlfriend says he was an avid bike rider but his passion was service. Miller was a firefighter at West Bradford Township Fire Company.

"And he loved it. He loved giving his time away to help other people," said Callahan.

Miller also volunteered with two other fire companies in the area - it was in his genes.

His father Doug is also a volunteer with West Bradford Township and was one of the first responders on the scene and gave his son CPR.

"After his father knew it was his son that's when the whole atmosphere changed," said Arlene Losasso, witness.

LoSasso ran across the road after the crash.

"I reach down to see if I could help him and there was nothing I could do," said Lossaso.

In a twist of fate that seems too cruel and too much to handle for one family, 14 months ago. Miller's older brother, Robbie, was killed when his motorcycle collided with a car.

"Ryan really took it hard. He wasn't the same. He put a smile on his face just to make people think that he was okay but he wasn't," said Callahan.

Ryan and Robbie's father, who also responded to that scene a year ago, was too upset to speak on camera but he says his sons were like twins.

They were born three years apart, both shared the same birthday, both were firefighters in West Bradford Township and both died riding their motorcycles.

"They always said if they were to die on their bikes, they would be the happiest," said Callahan.

Sunday evening the West Bradford Township Fire Company saluted another Miller as Ryan's body was carried past the fire station.

24/7 Live

There is only thing that brings some type of solace to those who loved him.

"He's reunited with his brother which that is what he longed for, he just wanted to be with his brother again because that was his best friend," said Callahan.

The family of the Miller brothers say they want to remind people motorcycles need to be respected on the road and motorcyclists need to be responsible.

As for the cause of the crash, it is still under investigation.

Volunteer firefighter Ryan Miller remembered for service

The casket Ryan Le'Scott Miller, 25, of West Bradford, was placed into the hose bed of a firetruck after funeral services in West Goshen Saturday, July 26, 2014. Miller was killed last weekend in a motorcycle crash on Allerton Road in East Bradford. Jack Law IV, son of West Bradford Fire Chief Jack Law III wears Ryan's fire helmet, left. Listen to this article

WEST GOSHEN – Firefighter Ryan Miller was remembered Saturday as an athlete and volunteer who was “incredibly courageous” as he gave back to his community.

Miller, of West Chester, actively served as a volunteer firefighter at West Bradford Fire Company for eight years.

West Bradford Fire Chief Jack Law III described Miller, similar to his older brother who preceded him in death, as a person who was “respectful, giving, caring, and overall, raised by very loving and caring parents.”

Miller died on July 19 in a motorcycle accident in East Bradford. He was 25. Law said it rained that night. Miller’s brother, Robert “Robbie” Miller, 27, died in a motorcycle accident on May 2, 2013.

“I discovered as I wept, the rain was actually tears from heaven. And that they were Robbie’s tears of joy to be reunited with Ryan as they missed each other dearly,” Law said. “As much as we will miss them both, we must have comfort knowing that they are together watching over us.”

It rained two hours before Miller’s memorial service began.

Law gave Carole and Robert Miller, parents of Ryan and Robbie, two red roses to “for each of the boys to symbolize a love that will never die.”

Speaker Lewis Nixon Sr., said that “love brought us all here today” to celebrate Miller’s life at St. Paul’s Baptist Church. Miller, who served for three local fire companies, was buried in his uniform.

“If the world could see what I see here today – you see we have much more that brings us together, than will ever bring us apart. Amen,” Nixon said. “Heavy hearts today.”

East Brandywine Chief John Edwards said that as a younger brother himself, he could relate to Miller who looked up to his brother. He said that often, younger brothers follow in the footsteps of their older brothers.

“When I reflect I remember Ryan,” Edwards said, “I remember a man who was devoted to his family, humble in spirit and incredibly courageous.”

Miller recently joined the East Brandywine Fire Company. Edwards said that Miller decided to join as the members at East Brandywine got to know the Miller family more during the past year.

Miller came from a family of firefighters.

Miller and Robbie Miller served until they died. Their brother Robert Harrison, along with their father Robert Miller, continues to serve. They all volunteered at several Chester County fire companies, including West Bradford Fire Company, East Brandywine Fire Company and Good Will of the West Chester Fire Department.

Good Will Captain Kevin Barry said that Miller will be missed at the fire station and by the community.

“When you lose a fireman, no matter what the reason, but especially at such a young age, it truly affects the firehouse in many ways,” Barry said. “It is more than just an empty locker. You lose part of the atmosphere, part of the soul of the (fire) station. Ryan’s smile and infectious personality will be forever missed, but always remembered.”

During the family tribute, Christa Callahan, Miller’s girlfriend of nine years, read a letter that she wrote to him when she was 19. She said she told Ryan that she would reread the letter to him when they got married.

“Today I want to make certain that you understand that being loved by you is a life that brings happiness to each day of my life. All I want is to love you forever for the rest of my life, to wake up

Miller, a 2008 Downingtown West High School graduate, participated in track and field, basketball and football. He usually wore jersey No. 22. Five years ago he began as a coach for the youth football at Downingtown Young Wippet. An avid sports fan, he coached boys basketball, lacrosse and intramural sports at the Montgomery School from 2008-11.

More than 800 family and friends who attended were asked to wear blue, in honor of Miller. Blue, one of his favorite colors, is one of his high school colors.

A procession of Chester County firefighters and police led the way to interment at Union Hill Cemetery in Kennett Square. Robert Harrison rode on the fire truck that displayed Miller’s casket.

A sign displayed on the truck read “in memory of Ryan Miller.” It was signed by more than 500 motorcyclists that participated on Thursday in an honor ride for Miller.

OmniCable Employee-Owners Raise $25,000 for Charities

WEST CHESTER, Penn. —Omni Cable Corporation (OmniCable), headquartered in West Chester, PA, kicked off its first-ever employee-owner giving campaign in mid-January 2019 generating over $25,000 for more than 65 charity organizations. The money pledged went to charities such as American Cancer Society National, Make-A-Wish Foundation of America, World Wildlife Fund, and more.

The OmniCares Committee, an employee-driven organization, partnered with America's Charities to launch an internal online workplace giving campaign that allowed employee-owners to easily donate to the charity of their choice.

The OmniCares Committee was founded in late 2018 and works to encourage, guide, support, and celebrate the generosity of OmniCable's employee-owners. The committee accomplishes its mission through employee-owners' volunteer work, fundraising events, and charitable donation requests.

America's Charities provides engagement tools to employers to help reach their philanthropic goals. "We chose to team up with America's Charities for our first campaign due to their easily customizable, easy to navigate website, and outstanding support," said Bill Blank, OmniCare's Committee Member.

"From the onset of planning the program with the OmniCares Committee, we heard the passion of commitment to community as they spoke about their volunteerism program. Also, they saw that adding in an easy and simple solution to giving will only deepen their commitment and further engage their employees," said Tamara Bibby, Client Engagement Manager with America's Charities. "With that drive and determination, we knew that they would be successful."

Orlando bound!

A photograph taken from the perspective of a passenger in the front seat of a car. The car's interior is visible, including the beige leather seats and headrests. In the back seat, two young boys are seated in black car seats. The boy on the left is looking towards the camera, while the boy on the right is holding a green sippy cup and drinking from it. A blue and white patterned blanket is draped over the boy on the right. A dark blue backpack with white polka dots is placed on the floor of the car in front of the back seat. The car is in motion, as evidenced by the blurred trees and sky visible through the large rear window. The overall atmosphere is casual and suggests a family trip.

I can't find his page for Beat Addiks, but he is a great hip hop dancer and is always posting his classes' performances. I don't know how young he teaches, but I would reach out to him!

I know, it literally isn't worth me looking right now. That's why I'm at least back in school to finish a degree to try and compete in the future for jobs. You'd think companies would at least entertain experience equal to a degree. Nope!

I have a masters degree and I get paid just as much as someone who has a highschool diploma. I'm thinking college was a waste of time and money. The student loans and daycare are financially killing me!

Ugh, I feel for you! I lost a really good paying job due to covid and the company being bought out and reorganized. And trying to find a job without a degree but plenty of experience, that pays enough is slim to none. That's why I'm back in school now to finish my degree but it's not looking promising on getting paid any better after I get my degree! I know there is plenty of programming/ assistance out there for child care assistance or even like housing, utilities etc BUT the qualifications are a joke. You literally need to be making 10$ an hour, living with a family of 8 people to get the help. Which is great for people who make a very low income but people even making $20 an hour still need financial help, especially with children. It's just super frustrating. Thankfully my husband makes a great income but single mom? Forget it, it's near impossible to come up in this world.

Margaux De Andrade biggest scam ever! unless it's in law or medical there is no point. everything else can pretty much be done at a 2 year trade or learn on the job/intern.

This is exactly why I don't work. Both my fiance and I were gone 50+ hours a week. His job pays better, and I stay home now. Sure it was a loss of income- but childcare costs, and neither of us being home it was unacceptable.

I work in the trades. We pay double that in most cases for certified skilled trades workers in the field. Having an academic degree doesn't really hold as much value as it did in the past. We have a couple with Masters degrees working for admin roles. See

I agree. But kendall has definitely noticed skin color on her own. She makes comments often about how someone skin color is like daddys (dark) or like mine (light). She's asked why her skin isn't the same color as either of ours...and we explain it simply...that everyone skin color is unique and shes a little of both of us. Since she noticed and asked, we use it as a teachable moment.

Not sure if this is out of the area- but our Karate place in Kennett does a highly rated summer camp (all day) and their last 2 weeks still have a couple spots left

USTC fills up the last few weeks because no one else is open (you would think other camps would stay open then too-ugh) BUT I talked to the director and they accommodated us.

Not sure if it's too far but the 422 sportsplex has specific sports and multi-sports camps.

#DidYouKnow | Caesarean is the only surgery where five layers of tissue are opened and the mother is expected to stand six hours later, taking responsibility for one more person, not to mention intense uterus contractions, a result of stimulation of the mammary glands, release of oxytocin... etc..

If you're a C-section mother, you're stronger than you think. Be proud of yourself.

I honestly can say us Woman are amazing... whether natural or C-section. Both my girls were natural. I walked out of the hospital, no wheelchair!! Less than 24 hours after having Vivian. I have heard how awful C-sections can be too. I know having a natural birth was no joke but I know C-sections are a longer healing process. But we all push through! Meanwhile, guys get a vasectomy and that's NOTHING CLOSE to what is woman have been through.

*After DOI: Subject's son, Brooks, experienced a medical respiratory emergency due to a virus facebook.com/christa.callahan.9/posts/10221852727975628

Christa Callahan's Post

Christa Callahan August 22, 2022

Parents!!! There are viruses (NOT traceable RSV/COVID/ FLU) uncommon for this time of year that are putting children into lower respiratory stress/failure at a rapid pace with very little symptoms.

Brooks woke me up Saturday night with a cough (no fever) but refused to take medicine. A cold had hit everyone else in the family the week before so I figured that's what he had. Sunday morning the cough faded away, still had no fever but began to breath very heavily. His belly was expanding and compressing at a very rapid pace. His skin color, lips and mouth were all normal color and because he showed no other symptoms, I let the day continue to see if it would pass. I was told before from doctors that children fighting off fevers sometimes breath heavily through their belly's so I figured he was just fighting a cold. As the day went on the short breathing stayed the same but he wouldn't drink, take any medicine or food and could hardly talk.

His doctors office was closed so I started watching YouTube videos of what type of breathing patterns is concerning for a child and when to be seen by a doctor. I went back and forth on whether or not I should take him to urgent care, trying not to be that mom that over exaggerates. But based on the belly breathing and the aggressive breathing through is neck and clavicle I decided to take him to urgent care.

Even though his skin color was normal, his oxygen levels were extremely low and they sent him immediately to CHOP emergency.

Things went very fast from there on out and he was very quickly admitted to the ICU, in minutes he had 6 nurses and doctors swarming around him attaching things to him, taking vitals etc. he ended up needing to be put on the highest level of oxygen/air/medication through a mask called bypass - non-invasive ventilator and an IV with fluid and medications. He was in a position if they couldn't control his breathing and oxygen levels fast enough he'd need to be put on a ventilator.

Thankfully, after a night on the bypass machine and 2 IV's, he started to slowly show signs of recovery roughly 12 hours later and the next day he switched to a cpap machine and by mid day was off of oxygen completely. Thankfully he responded really well to the steroids and medications they administered.

I asked the doctor what would have happened if I didn't bring him in and let him go for the night breathing the way he was. She said, he probably would have stopped breathing in his sleep.

All I have to say is BE THAT MOM OR DAD. Over exaggerates if you have to, it is better safe then sorry. And ANY sign of breathing issues or belly breathing, take your child to the doctors, urgent care or hospital. DON'T HESITATE.

I'm writing this to bring awareness to a big mistake I almost made. If I read a story like this before this

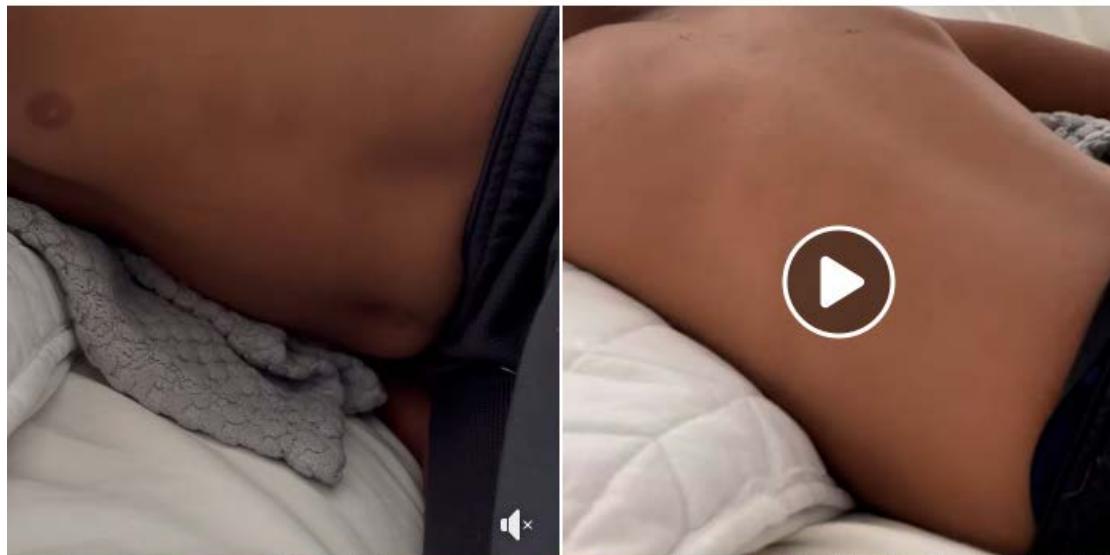

Christa Callahan's Post

I'm writing this to bring awareness to a big mistake I almost made. If I read a story like this before this happened to my son, I wouldn't have hesitated and would have got him care immediately when he first shows signs of lower respiratory distress.

Please,

Be that parent.

Kelsey Alexandrathey said Brooks recovery was one of the fastest they've had with the amount of support he had to have. His body did really well with the concoction of medication they were administrating. Now he is on a inhaler every 2 hours that makes him literally run around in circles for hours. His oxygen levels are still low so I'm just hoping they start to level out soon. ❤️

Tiffany Luke Battlesugh it is the worst! I died inside when a ventilator was being talked about because he was almost maxed out on the bypass machine. And to think I almost said, eh let's see how he does tomorrow before I decided to bringing him into urgent care.

Christa Callahan Van I can distinctly remember the convo and us signing all papers to go on the vent. He never ended up dropping low enough but was right on the verge the entire time- cpap, bi-pap, nose cannula, feeding tube was probably the worst of it. And the nose wall suctioning. I def have some ptsd from the whole thing (and was extra crazy when Covid first hit as a result) - so glad to hear he is doing better. You did good! And thank god for CHOP

Thank you everyone! For an update we are still in the hospital but out of the ICU and in the general hospital. They are working on getting his breathing back to normal. He shows very minimal signs of lower respiratory distress. To the naked eye, you can't really tell other then slight belly breathing. Hopefully we will be released today.

Thank you for all the support!!

A screenshot of a TikTok video page. The video itself shows a person swimming in a clear, greenish-blue cenote (natural sinkhole) surrounded by dense tropical vegetation. A play button icon is overlaid on the video frame. To the right of the video is the TikTok interface, showing the creator's profile (c.callahan1227), the date (2024-11-13), and the hashtags #senotemexico and #livingmybestlife. Below the video, there are engagement metrics (9 likes, 1 comment, 0 saves), a link to the video (https://www.tiktok.com/@c.callahan1227/video/743691...), and a 'Copy link' button. The comments section shows one comment from 'Krista Danielle Cong' with the text 'Great job christa!' and a heart emoji, along with a reply from the creator. At the bottom of the screen, there are buttons for adding a comment, tagging, and posting.

My kids have been going to Holland for 1.5 years now and they absolutely love it. The teachers do an amazing job with them and have a lot of fun learning activities they do throughout the year and into the summer for summer camp. A big plus is they serve them a well balanced lunch every day included in the tuition. My kids eat better than me ha! It really takes one less worry out of my life. I highly recommend.

I've been to many water parks, this one is terrible. It's over crowded. Only one little slide for toddlers, one very small pool for everyone, which is over crowded and just dangerous with the amount of kids and adults in it jumping around. The set up of the water park is terrible. Very little seating and it took over an hour to get 2 pizzas made. Not worth $200 for 5 people. Go to great wolf lodge
