Community Opposes North Side Tavern

"We've battled this tavern, this location, for years," says Harambee neighborhood activist and city agrees, denying application.

Community opposition tanked a liquor license for The Divas Zone, a proposed lounge at 3478 N. 2nd St. The City of Milwaukee Common Council License Committee denied the application.

The building, on the southeast corner of Keefe Avenue and 2nd Street, previously housed Club 2C and has been the site of a number of neighborhood disturbances, including altercations and weapons, as recently as September.

The license application by Parkers Hospitality LLC was opposed by residents and community organizations including Heartlove Place, Riverworks Development Corporation and the Harambee Great Neighborhood Initiative.

Chris Grandt, director of neighborhood development at Riverworks and a neighborhood resident, said his organization's opposition isn't new. "We've been battling this tavern, this location, for years."

However, Grandt was quick to clarify that the issue wasn't simply the nature of the establishment. "We're not against bars," he said. "We've never been against The Fox [Nite Club on Keefe] and we've supported Ret Lounge on Holton Street. Wisconsin has a long history of tavern culture and that's OK."

Ruth Wilson, who lives adjacent to the building, expressed skepticism before the hearing that anything

Holton Street. Wisconsin has a long history of tavern culture and that's OK."

Ruth Wilson, who lives adjacent to the building, expressed skepticism before the hearing that anything would change with new ownership. "I'm quite sure it's going to be the same thing, once the summer gets here," she said.

At a March 17 community meeting, residents filled a second floor classroom at Hope Christian School: Fortis, to discuss the license application. Concerns included limited parking and the building's close proximity to True Love Missionary Baptist Church and a neighborhood daycare center.

Parkers Hospitality LLC partners Kelly Parker and Deon Glore attended the hearing and offered assurances that The Divas Zone would provide a more acceptable atmosphere and clientele.

Parker said she understands the community's apprehension. "The way the previous owner had it, you know, I understand the concerns... I'm willing to work with the community as much as possible to make sure everything is safe."

Before the hearing, Parker said if she had known how strong the community response would be, the partners might not have pursued the 2nd Street location, which was attractive because of the affordable rent. "I feel any establishment, no matter where the location, as long as it's managed right, can be successful, she added.

Quinn McCullar, a member of True Love Baptist, said he believes that for a business to succeed at that location, it would take the right person as well as involvement and support from the community. "You can't just put everything that happened with the other business owners on somebody else who's coming in new; all you can do is just give them a chance."

Grandt also didn't dismiss the possibility of the location turning around but he said the community needs time. "All we know is there's been a long history of nuisance activity... We need a break from it," he said.

What would it take for the location to be a positive influence in the community? David Bramlett, principal of the Hope School, said residents would need a concrete proposal. "It would take very detailed plans; very clear, detailed plans about how it can be a positive place. I think that's what community members are looking for."

Lord, as the day ends,
I come before you in gratitude.
Thank you for the blessings and forgiveness for my shortcomings,

and the strength to face tomorrow.
I surrender to your care, trusting

God is saying to you today,
“They said you wouldn't make it.
They said you didn't deserve it.
They tried to stop you
from receiving My best.
Know that all of your
blessings come from Me!
What I promised you,
no one can take, block, or destroy.
Stay in faith.
Your breakthrough is here.”

IF YOU'RE NOT YET A VIRAL sensation, you might still be a little bit of a
 "mystery" to some people.
 But don't worry, it's not your fault. It's just the way the world works. It's all about timing and luck.
 If you think you're
