 Termaine Hicks is organizing this fundraiser.

We are teaching critical thinking and conflict resolution through a series of short films to help curb gun violence and bullying within schools and neighborhoods. We have done presentations at schools from Philadelphia to Portland Oregon, elementary through high school, and our message has made a great impact on students and School faculty.

through high school and our message has made a great impact on students and School faculty.

We have started fundraising to produce our second short film to continue our purpose to enlighten and empower the youth to help curb gun violence and bullying.

S.T.E.P.U.P. is a community-based organization in Philadelphia that primarily focuses on producing educational/inspirational short films and open dialogue about preventing gun violence and bullying within schools and neighborhoods.

I am recently exonerated after serving two decades for a wrongful conviction. I was shot three times from behind by a Philadelphia Police officer and framed for a crime to coverup the unjustified shooting. S.T.E.P.U.P. is the idea I came up with while sitting in a cell witnessing the violence among the youth, watching them kill themselves or being arrested and coming through the system. My aim is to teach them an alternative to senseless violence.

Hello friends. As we wrap up production of our 2nd short educational film STEPUP and say No to Bullies, I'm looking for a parent who's child may have committed suicide as a result of being bullied. If they're willing to share, I would like for them to open up about the effects it had/still has on them. This talk could take up to 30 minutes but we will only use one min of film time. If you're interested please DM me or email stepup.est2008@gmail.com for more information. We're looking to film this segment 2nd week of September.

Preferably someone from Philly or surrounding counties.

Thanks!

Subject's post regarding S.T.E.P.U.P's YouTube channel.

Termaine Hicks's Post

September 2, 2022 · 🌐

S.T.E.P.U.P has a YouTube station, we just uploaded our first short film STEPUP to help curb Gun violence. STEPUP and say No to bullies will air in two weeks.

Our goal is to have these educational films aired in every classroom across this country. If you believe in S.T.E.P.U.P.'s mission, then I need all my social media friends to LIKE, SUBSCRIBE to our YouTube station & Share its content with y'all followers. We need at a minimum 1,000 subscribers to get the attention we need to get S.T.E.P.U.P.'s program into schools across country.

Everyone who has at a minimum of 25 subscribers (they have to leave a comment saying I was referred by so & so) that person will receive your choice of a STEPUP shirt, hat or mug. I thank you all for your support. Now let's Go!

PANELIST BIOS

JIMMY DENNIS

(Adapted from The Philadelphia Inquirer, Ellie Rushing)

Jimmy was an aspiring musician at age 21. When a 17 year-old high school student was murdered, he was charged. A witness identified Jimmy as a passenger on a SEPTA bus at the time the of crime. Nonetheless, he was convicted and sentenced to death.

Prosecutors and detectives withheld evidence. A witness who said he could identify the killer if he saw him again told the police it was not Jimmy. This information was not shared. A document corroborated that Jimmy was on that SEPTA bus – it was withheld.

While in prison, Jimmy spent most of his time in solitary confinement, trapped alone inside a windowless cell for up to 24 hours a day. His meals were slid under the door. Visitors were few and far between, and he was given only a few hours of fresh air each week.

The federal judge who overturned his conviction called his case a "grave miscarriage of justice." Jimmy reached a deal with prosecutors and was released for time served.

TERMAINE HICKS

(Adapted from The Philadelphia Inquirer, Samantha Melamed)

Termaine heard screams and rushed to help. A woman had been pistol-whipped, dragged into an alleyway behind what was then St. Agnes Hospital in South Philadelphia, and raped – until the rapist was startled and fled the scene. Seconds later, police officers arrived, took him for the rapist and shot him three times. Hicks survived, but was charged with the rape and sentenced to 12 1/2 to 25 years in prison.

Police Officer Martin Vinson said he shot Hicks in the chest or stomach as Hicks was pulling a gun from his pocket and lunging toward him. Hicks said the officer shot him in the back as he was reaching into his pocket for his phone to call 911. Both a forensic analysis of Hicks' medical records and a review of his clothing – with bullet holes in the back, but none in the front – supported Hicks' account, according to the city's chief medical examiner.

Surveillance tape shows a man in a hoodie dragging the victim into the alley. Witness statements allege the attacker wore a gray hoodie, while Hicks' coat had no hood. But the surveillance footage was not provided to Hicks or his lawyers until after his trial had concluded.

Tremaine was exonerated after serving 19 years.

My friend, @petertunney gifted me a piece of his famous artwork #invinciblesummer that is now hanging in my dining room!

The collage consists of four photographs. The top-left photo shows Termaine Hicks from the side, wearing a green and yellow baseball cap, looking at a framed artwork. The top-right photo shows him from the front, wearing a white t-shirt and white pants, standing next to the same framed artwork. The bottom-left photo shows him from the front, giving a thumbs up next to the artwork. The bottom-right photo shows the artwork on a wall, with a '+4' icon overlaid on the image.

Photos from Subject who ran the New York City Marathon with the Innocence Project on November 3, 2025. Caption: Was truly a wonderful experience running NYC Marathon with the @innocenceproject on Nov. 3. Seeing mile markers as I passed them was surreal but once I saw marker that said 1 mile to go I became overwhelmed with emotions. Couldn't believe I just ran and about to finish the NYC Marathon having to endure and experience a wrongful conviction for 2 decades due to police misconduct, after being shot 3 times and in the cusps of celebrating 4 years of freedom. To date, by far one of my greatest achievements and I'm not done yet! Love and appreciation to my biggest supporter, Melissa Brooks who stood out in the cold for 5 plus hours until I crossed the finish line. @melissabrooks
