Clinton police arrest Phillipsburg woman on two warrants

Published: Sep. 19, 2012, 5:03 p.m.

By Hunterdon County Democrat

 Clinton police

CLINTON — Vanessa Domingues, 26, of Phillipsburg was arrested on two warrants by Sgt. J. Cory Kubinak on Sept. 13 at 2:10 p.m.

Kubinak pulled her over on Route 173 for allegedly talking on a cell phone without a hands-free device. Then he discovered that she is wanted by Greenwich Municipal Court for failing to appear on a bad-check charge. The warrant had an assigned bail of $500. The second warrant was issued by Union Township Municipal Court after Domingues failed to appear on a charge of careless driving. It had an assigned bail of $184.

Domingues was issued a warning for the cell phone offense. She posted bail on the warrants and was released.

It's it because my name is not Apple,Samsung,True Religion, Mercedes Benz, BMW ect.....

Save her?? From what?? She became stronger than the monsters who made her this way.. Now you want me to save her?? Well I can't, no man can, she was forced to evolve into a different kind of woman, she adapted better than we ever thought she could.. So don't tell me to save her from shit, we made her this way so now we have to figure out how to love her this way.. @joebrock_

Happy BIRTHDAY TO MY BEST FRIEND FOREVER I love u @ms_mandilee 16yrs u still make me laugh like the day I met u, the only girl that I pick up my phone for at any moment at anytime, and the only girl that is allowed to avoid me without me getting mad at cause I know she loves me and I love her... And there's nothing either one of us can do about it , cause this life is a called a journey for a reason , and man she sits next to me telling me to put my seat belt on while we enjoy the ride.

The meme features a cartoon illustration of a short woman with glasses and a white dress with colorful buttons. The text reads: "Heck, yes, I'm SHORT. God only lets things grow until they're PERFECT. Some of us didn't take as long as others." At the bottom right of the meme is a "Share Stuff" logo.

A man faces at least 20 years behind bars after a jury convicted him of running a prostitution ring with two underage girls.

Michael Edward Gunn, 40, of Dumfries, could spend up to life in prison following his Sept. 13 conviction on federal charges of conspiring to commit the sex trafficking of minors. A judge will decide his fate in a Dec. 22 sentencing hearing.

Michael Edward Gunn, 40, of Dumfries, could spend up to life in prison following his Sept. 13 conviction on federal charges of conspiring to commit the sex trafficking of minors. A judge will decide his fate in a Dec. 22 sentencing hearing.

According to court documents, Gunn worked with his then-wife and another woman to lure two girls into a prostitution scheme at his home along Wilmer Porter Court in Dumfries from 2013 through 2015.

Gunn, who previously pleaded guilty to several different prostitution and trafficking charges in Washington, D.C., used violence, threats and controlled substances to manipulate the girls into having sex with adult clients, according to an affidavit filed by FBI agents in federal court.

The document also alleges that Gunn had sexual relationships with both girls, who were 14 and 16 years old at the time, and that he knew they were underage.

According to the affidavit, police in both Prince William County and Dumfries encountered Gunn with the girls on several occasions and became suspicious that he was involved in sex trafficking.

Prince William detectives began surveilling Gunn, and searched his home and his car. They discovered evidence that he had been advertising on "Backpage.com," a website facing scrutiny for its high volume of sex-related advertisements. The FBI began investigating the case as well.

By July 2015, they had enough evidence to arrest and charge Gunn, in addition to his now ex-wife, Angel Tia Bridges, and the third woman in the home, Vanessa Domingues.

Both Bridges and Domingues accepted plea agreements on lesser sex trafficking charges — with sentences of 10 years to life in prison — and both testified against Gunn at trial.

A man was sentenced to 30 years in prison Friday for running a prostitution ring that involved two underage girls.

Michael Edward Gunn, 40, of Dumfries, was convicted in September on federal charges of conspiring to commit the sex trafficking of minors. Gunn will also have to pay $648,000 in restitution.

According to court documents, Gunn worked with his then-wife and another woman to lure two girls into a prostitution scheme at his home along Wilmer Porter Court in Dumfries from 2013 through 2015.

Gunn, who previously pleaded guilty to several different prostitution and trafficking charges in Washington, D.C., used violence, threats and controlled substances to manipulate the girls into having sex with adult clients, according to an affidavit filed by FBI agents in federal court.

The document also alleges that Guinn had sexual relationships with both girls, who were 14 and 16 years old at the time, and that he knew they were underage.

According to the affidavit, police in both Prince William County and Dumfries encountered Gunn with the girls on several occasions and became suspicious that he was involved in sex trafficking.

Prince William detectives began surveilling Gunn, and searched his home and his car. They discovered evidence that he had been advertising on "Backpage.com," a website facing scrutiny for its high volume of sex-related advertisements. The FBI began investigating the case as well.

By July 2015, they had enough evidence to arrest and charge Gunn, in addition to his now ex-wife, Angel Tia Bridges, and the third woman in the home, Vanessa Domingues.

Both Bridges and Domingues accepted plea agreements on lesser sex trafficking charges and both testified against Gunn at trial. Bridges was sentenced to more than 11 years in prison and Dominguez was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Stop pimping and selling our children. Stop sexually abusing our children. Stop mentally abusing our children. Stop physically abusing our children.

Domestic Minor Human Trafficking is sexual, mental, and physical abuse of children.

We don't love you because he is incapable of loving anyone else besides the game of making money. You are a pawn, and nothing more. If you help him recruit and sell children you are also a trafficker. If you feel as though you are being made to do so please get help. These children deserve better and so do you.

Why is the Black community so quiet when it comes to the buying and selling of our children?

Gunn gave the teens drugs and ordered that they meet quotas. One girl needed to make $400 a night. He set a higher quota for the other girl, $1,000 a night, "because of [her] skin color," court documents say.

According to federal court documents, Gunn posted ads for the teenagers on the online classifieds website Backpage, using fake photos. Then, he, his wife or his girlfriend drove the teens to meet customers in D.C., Maryland and Virginia.

Gunn gave the teens drugs and ordered that they meet quotas. One girl needed to make $400 a night. He set a higher quota for the other girl, $1,000 a night, "because of [her] skin color," court documents say.

From July 2013 to July 2015, the teens brought in about $648,000 – the majority of which went to Gunn.

Neighbors said they had no idea Gunn was pimping girls from his large home in a cul-de-sac. They said they thought the living arrangement among the adults was strange but that they had not seen teens at the house.

"Obviously, you want to help. You want to help any young child that's gone through that, but there were no red flags. There were no signs over there," neighbor Tony Meyers said.

Prosecutors described Gunn as a sexual predator who refused to change his ways. When he met the teens, he already was a registered sex offender. He prostituted an underage girl in D.C., got out of jail and moved to the suburbs.

Prosecutors described Gunn as a sexual predator who refused to change his ways. When he met the teens, he already was a registered sex offender. He prostituted an underage girl in D.C., got out of jail and moved to the suburbs.

Court documents say he initially lured the girls with affection, telling them the crime ring was a family whose members took care of each other. He gave the teens a place to stay and had sexual relationships with them both.

At the same time, Gunn was physically violent. According to court documents, he once hit one of the teens so hard, her tooth pierced through her lip.

Anna Hansen, operations director of the Northern Virginia Human Trafficking Initiative, said pimps recruit underage girls because they're easy to manipulate.

"They don't have their own well-being or identity established, and they're looking for love, and they're looking for popularity and they're looking for money," she said.

Gunn's scheme began to crumble two years ago, when Prince William County police caught him in a hotel parking lot in Woodbridge, Virginia, with the 14-year-old victim. Police found they had three phones, $1,130 in cash, a hotel room key and 15 condoms.

Evidence showed Gunn knew both teens were underage, prosecutors say.

Angel Gunn and Vanessa Domingues also were convicted of sex-trafficking minors. The women testified at trial that Gunn led the crime ring. Angel Gunn was sentenced to nearly 12 years in prison. Domingues got 10 years.

It's unclear whether the victims will ever get the $648,000 Gunn owes them; the sale of his house yielded only about $110,000.

Prosecutors said they were unable to provide information on where the teens are now, citing confidentiality concerns.

Hansen, the advocate for victims, said she hoped the case would raise awareness of human trafficking.

"It's hiding in plain sight" she said.
